

For these two algorithms, I found that Gibbs Sampling motif search can get lower score in fewer steps, which means it can converge more quickly. Maybe it is because it has 30 random searches.

What's more, due to single motif search per iteration, Gibbs Sampling motif search should use less saving space when running.